

STUDENT TESTIMONIES

Description of Testimonies

To open up the baptism service, we will have fifteen minutes where five to seven students that are being baptized will share their testimony of how they have seen God move in their life during camp.

Throughout the week, as students sign up for baptisms, Next Gen Coordinators will check in with the main office to see what all students have signed up for baptisms.

After evening service number three, each Next Gen Coordinator will select one student who is being baptized to share their testimony to open up the baptism service. Immediately after selecting these students, report the students to Carson Clark.

Carson Clark will connect with that student's group leader, and point them to the "How" section of this document, so that the group leader can begin preparing the student to share.

Goal of Testimonies

Empower students to share their testimony boldly.

Display what it looks like to be unashamed of the Gospel.

Provide students with an opportunity to testify to the power, goodness, and faithfulness of God.

How to Prepare Students for Testimonies

"Offer an outline." When telling their story, students may not even know where to start. Because of this, we can encourage them to lean on the three R's. See below:

Reflect on where you were. What were you doing, what were you caught up in, what were you dealing with?

Recognize what God has brought you out of and into. How has God moved in your life to take you out of what you were wrestling with, and into something better?

Relay this to everyone. Simply share your story. It doesn't have to be perfect, it just has to be authentic.

Inform each student that their testimony needs to be approximately two minutes.
